Dear Dropbox Hiring Team,

I'm applying for the Senior Fullstack Product Software Engineer role on the Browse & Navigate Web Experience team. Owning customer-facing web flows (browse, navigate, preview) end to end is the kind of product work I've done for years in React/TypeScript with Python and Node backends.

At Snap, I was tech lead for the AR Enterprise Web SDK: I designed and shipped large-scale merchant-facing web experiences, APIs, and integrations across teams, from discovery through production. Before that at Vertebrae, I built full-stack React/Node product systems used by millions. Most recently at Panorama AI, I led platform work for LLM and recommendation products, including a React widget serving personalized results to shoppers.

I'd welcome the chance to bring that ownership to Dropbox's web experience. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Rob Higgins
